Symposium

Inheritance of the Experiences of Medical Care for the Radiation-Exposed and International Contribution

[Chair] Takafumi Tsuya

Executive Director, Hiroshima Prefectural Medical Association M.D., Ph.D., Hiroshima University Graduate School of Medicine, 1988

Assistant, Hiroshima University School of Medicine, then lecturer appointed by the Ministry of Education at Hiroshima Univ., 1989-1992. Director, department of pulmonology, Chugoku Rosai hospital, 1993-2000, Reseacher, Karolinska Institute, Sweden,1996, Tsuya Clinic, since 2000, Executive Director, Hiroshima Prefectural Medical Association, since 2014.

(Symposiast) Kazunori Kodama

Chief Scientist of Radiation Effects Research Foundation M.D., Ph.D., Hiroshima University School of Medicine, 1983

Dr. Kodama graduated from the Hiroshima University School of Medicine in 1972 and received training at St. Raphael Hospital, affiliated with Yale University for five years. He is currently Chief Scientist at the Radiation Effects Research Foundation (RERF). He served as Chief of the Department of Clinical Studies from 1989 to 1999 and Chief of the Department of Epidemiology from 2002 to 2007 at RERF. He also was appointed as Professor of the Department of Health Sciences at the Hiroshima University Faculty of Medicine from 1999 to 2002. He is former President of the Japan Epidemiological Association, and Fellow of the Faculty of Public Health Medicine of the Royal College of Physicians of the UK and the American College of Cardiology. He was the recipient of an award presented by the Japan Heart Foundation for the Prevention of Cardiovascular Disease in 1992 and 2012. He also received distinguished service awards from the Japanese Society of Preventive Cardiology in 2006 and from the Japan Epidemiological Association in 2011.

(Symposiast) Christopher H. Clement

Scientific Secretary of International Commission on Radiological Protection McMaster University (Hamilton, Canada) with a Master of Science degree in health physics

Mr Clement's career began with more than a decade working for the Canadian government in low-level waste management and environmental restoration. He then worked for the Canadian Nuclear Safety Commission for about a decade, in uranium mine decommissioning, radiological counter-terrorism, and ultimately as Director of Radiation Protection. The latter included duties as the Canadian representative to the International Atomic Energy Agency's Radiation Safety Standards Committee, and the OECD Nuclear Energy Agency 's Committee on Radiation Protection and Public Health. Since 2008 he has been the Scientific Secretary of the International Commission on Radiological Protection (ICRP), and since 2012 he has also been a member of the International Radiation Protection Association Executive Council.

(Symposiast) Kenji Kamiya

Vice President of Hiroshima University M.D., Ph.D., Hiroshima University School of Medicine,1986

He joined the Research Institute for Radiation Biology and Medicine of Hiroshima Univ. in 1987 and became a professor in 1996. He served as the director of institute for two terms, 2001-2005 and 2009-2013. Also, he has served the director of Radiation Emergency Medicine Promotion Center since 2004. After the nuclear accident in Fukushima, he became a vice-president of Fukushima Medical Univ. in 2011 and the one of Hiroshima Univ. in 2013. He was awarded a prize for his contributions to disaster prevention by the Prime Minister, Cabinet Office in 2012. He is currently serving as an adviser for Cabinet Secretariat Government of Japan, the chairman of Japan Radiation Council. His research fields are radiation biology, radiation carcinogenesis and radiation emergency medicine. He is a council member at Science Council of Japan. In 2015, he served as Secretary-General for the ICRR2015 in Kyoto.

(Symposiast) Masahiro Kenjo

Vice Director, Hiroshima High-Precision Radiotherapy Cancer Center M.D., Ph.D., Hiroshima University School of Medicine, 1993

Research associate Hiroshima University School of Medicine since 1998. Vice director of Hiroshima High-Precision Radiotherapy Cancer Center, since 2015. Radiation Oncologist